

PerSeverance Cave

Last Updated Friday, 29 December 2006

Location: Manchester, VT

Description: A sporting, wet vertical cave, still being explored and mapped. First opened in 1998, with new passage being found as recently as July, 1999. Contains pits of 43', 77' and 89'. Wetsuit required.

Pictures:

An extended exposure photo of a caver climbing the rope in the 77' pit. (Photo Tim Vile)

Some of the formations found in PerSeverance Cave (Photo by Rick Pingree)

John Keough in the squeeze in the Nasal Passage (Photo by Rick Pingree)

A caver descending the 77' pit (Photo by Tim Vile)

Popcorn near the bottom of one of the pits

Looking up one of the pits. (Photographer unknown)